MARKET STILL UNSETTLED.

Forcible Measures for Protection of Prices—Closed Irregular.

New York, June 16.—The unsettled in the stock market which started yesterday proceeded to such a length today as to bring out forcible measures for the protection of prices from great banking interests and others interested in maintaining values. United States Steel was in the center of the disturbance and the greatest activity of the dealings. Reports from Paris over night seemed to confirm the rumor current for several days that the effort to secure the admission of United States Steel to the Paris bourse had failed through the refusal of the government, whose consent is necessary. The fluctuating effect of this report and the acute weakness of United States Steel particularly were contested by powerful buying orders for the stock designed to support the price and by assurances from J. P. Morgan & Co. of their confidence that the plan for introducing United States Steel to the Paris bourse, while delayed and encountering some opposition, would be carried out. The great effect which has been laid on this project in connection with the speculation in United States Steel left no room for escape from an unfavorable effect from the reported defeat of the plan, which ever may be the actual bearing on the prospective value of the United States Steel shares. The open pressure in these shares forced them down to 65 7/8, which is 1 3/8 lower than yesterday's closing price and four points below the high level touched on Monday. The effect was not confined to that stock, the whole list showing sharp declines during the morning, and being subjected to pronounced pressure of the liquidation. The professional bear organization which came into prominence yesterday was active again. The liquidation was forced upon the market by the general fall in prices which induced speculative holders to throw overboard to save profits or to limit the losses. The bears continued to force the declines so long as this condition continued. The support which checked the decline in its effect put a stop to much of the selling and the scramble of bears to cover aided materially in the purchases of those seeking to protect prices. The expected message of President Taft, which proved to have been quite accurately outlined in the news, was dwelt on by some of the sellers of stocks as a possible reason for the decline in prices on congress on the whole subject of corporation control. The proposed 2 per cent. tax on net earnings of corporations and the recommendation to submit a constitutional amendment permitting a tax on incomes were not especially relished in the prevailing stock market views. Sensitiveness on the subject of corporation control has grown keener with the widespread discussion given to the affairs of the American Sugar Refining company in connection with its settlement with the Pennsylvania Sugar company. A decline in copper in London and at the New York metal exchange were incidents of the day that worked towards depression of speculative sentiment. A sharp rise in Reading to above 155 was a sustaining factor in the late dealings, but it was not announced until after the market had closed that the dividend on the stock had been left unchanged. The activity of the market was much curtailed at the partly restored prices of the latter part of the day and the closing tone was irregular. Bonds were easy. Total sales, par value, $4,844,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.
